Methodology

Sample

The survey was delivered to a random sample of 90,964 members. The survey had 2,283 useable responses. The response rate was 2.51 percent.

For 96 percent of respondents, the majority of their business is residential.

Dates

The survey was deployed on Sunday, May 3rd, and was closed on Monday May 4th.

The margin of error for overall results is +/-2.05 percent. This response rate is high enough and the margin of error is low enough that the results can be considered quantitative and reflective of all members within this margin of error.

Tenants Paying Rent

Of those who work with residential tenants, 42 percent of property managers cited having no issues with their tenants paying the rent, compared to 62 percent of individual landlords. Forty-three percent of property managers reported being able to accommodate their tenants who cannot pay rent and 16 percent cited it being difficult. Among individual landlords, 25 percent of individual landlords reported being able to accommodate their tenants who cannot pay rent and eight percent cited it being difficult. Small portions (less than 10 percent) of property managers and individual landlords reported tenants terminating their leases.

IN REGARDS TO CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19), HAVE YOU SEEN ANY TENANTS WHO ARE UNABLE TO PAY THEIR RENT?:

- No issues, rents are being paid on time
- Yes, asking to delay paying their rent, and will be accommodating knowing the circumstances
- Yes, asking to delay paying their rent, and will be difficult to allow
- Yes, leases are being terminated

Social Distancing and Transactions

Forty-three percent of members were able to complete nearly all aspects of transactions while respecting social distance. With minor modifications such as using masks and gloves, 30 percent felt person-to-person interactions were still required. Seven percent postponed home searching and 14 percent stated that the mandate of stay-at-home prevents them from completing transactions.

HOW WOULD YOU ASSESS SOCIAL DISTANCING GUIDANCE AND REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION, ESPECIALLY WITH MORE USE OF VIRTUAL TOURS, ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES, AND EXTERIOR-ONLY HOME APPRAISALS?

- Some aspects still require person-to-person interactions, though masks and gloves could lessen the risk of spreading the virus
- Nearly all aspect of the transaction can be done while respecting social distancing
- Government mandate of stay-at-home, including not permitting private showings is leading to near impossibility of getting deals done
- Home searching has to be postponed because of the need for close person-to-person interactions and with strangers
- Other

Buyer Behavior

Forty-two percent of members reported buyers are delaying their home purchase for a couple of months. Seventeen percent stopped looking due to concern about losing their job. Sixteen percent reported there is no change in client behavior, and they continue to meet in person. Twelve percent reported members are continuing the process, but only relying on virtual communication. Five percent reported members are continuing the process, but only relying on virtual communication. Five percent reported clients are deciding not to buy or sell indefinitely. Five percent reported clients are deciding not to buy or sell indefinitely.
