For 96 percent of respondents, the majority of their business is residential. For two percent of respondents, the majority of their business is commercial.

Seventy-seven percent of respondents are in a state that has declared a state of emergency. Fifty-six percent of members work in a local market where there are presumed or confirmed cases of COVID-19.

The margin of error for overall results is +/-1.77 percent. This response rate is high enough and the margin of error is low enough that the results can be considered quantitative and reflective of all members within this margin of error.
Residential Survey Questions
The majority of sellers have decided not to make a change in their home listing. However, from March 9 to March 16 there was an increase in members who cited that sellers removed the home from the market and refinanced.

The spread of Coronavirus has led to a big drop in mortgage interest rates as well as a big drop in the stock market. Seller reaction:

- Residential Members (March 16): 85%
  - No change in seller behavior in regards to rates: 9%
  - Increase in sellers, who can move and finance a home with lower rates: 7%
  - Remove home from market and refinance: 7%

- Areas W/Confirmed or Presumed COVID-19 Cases (March 16): 83%
  - No change in seller behavior in regards to rates: 11%
  - Increase in sellers, who can move and finance a home with lower rates: 7%
  - Remove home from market and refinance: 7%

- Residential Members (March 9): 88%
  - No change in seller behavior in regards to rates: 4%
  - Increase in sellers, who can move and finance a home with lower rates: 9%
  - Remove home from market and refinance: 9%
Forty-five percent of members cited there was no notable change in client behavior regarding the stock market and mortgage rate change. There is a one to one ratio of members who cited the stock market correction significantly damaged confidence, to those who cited lower interest rates excited clients. The share of members who cited the stock market correction influenced clients more than doubled from March 9 to March 16.

REGARDING BUYERS, WHICH BEST DESCRIBES THE CLIENT THAT YOU ARE WORKING WITH:

- Residential Members (March 16):
  - The two impacts roughly balanced out with no notable change in client’s behavior: 28%
  - The stock market correction significantly damaged confidence with lower rates not helping: 28%
  - Lower mortgage rates excited clients much more than the stock market correction: 45%

- Areas W/Confirmed or Presumed COVID-19 Cases (March 16):
  - The two impacts roughly balanced out with no notable change in client’s behavior: 28%
  - The stock market correction significantly damaged confidence with lower rates not helping: 32%
  - Lower mortgage rates excited clients much more than the stock market correction: 41%

- Residential Members (March 9):
  - The two impacts roughly balanced out with no notable change in client’s behavior: 37%
  - The stock market correction significantly damaged confidence with lower rates not helping: 13%
  - Lower mortgage rates excited clients much more than the stock market correction: 50%
On March 9, 78 percent of members cited there was no change in buyer interest due to the coronavirus (COVID-19). However, on March 16, this declined to 45 percent. In areas where there are presumed or confirmed cases of COVID-19, this share is 41 percent. Among all residential members, 48 percent of members cited there was a decrease in buyers.
The majority of members reported there has been no change in the number of homes on the market due to the coronavirus (COVID-19). However, in the latest iteration of the survey, 28 percent of members did report that there has been a decline in homes on the market. In areas where there are confirmed or presumed COVID-19 cases, 32 percent saw a decline in homes on the market.
